Summary

Who
Studio Lust & LustLab divided into, graphic designer, creative coders and new employees/interns.

Why
It would improve communication and the use of their own resources. Furthermore, it is desired and planned to document the process within LustLab better.

What
A lot of custom software is created. Not everyone knows where to find it and what has been build. This would be needed to either help in the development process as reference point. In the design process as inspiration or for new employees as jump-start into the studios environment.

Where
The problem lays in the lack of organization of the documentation. Secondly, due to the use of an external storing platform(Bitbucket) results are not necessarily presentable and accessible.

What
The problem occurs on a frequent basis throughout all projects.

How
Increasing workload and the wish of documenting intermediate results and the wish of process documentation.
